PUBLIC RECORDS REQUEST — COMMUNICATIONS WITH OSP GOVERNMENT AND MEDIA RELATIONS

TO	Public Records Officer, Special Districts Association of Oregon
FROM	Robert Samuel White, P.O. Box 334, Reedsport, Oregon 97467
DATE	October 31, 2026
RE	Public records request under ORS 192.314

To the Public Records Officer, Special Districts Association of Oregon:

Under ORS 192.314, I request the following public records of the Special Districts Association of Oregon. It concerns how the Special Districts Association of Oregon communicates with the Oregon State Police about other members of the public.

Records requested. All communications sent to or received from either of these Oregon State Police accounts, through any channel the agency uses: emails, Microsoft Teams chat and channel messages, text messages, and voicemail, including attachments and replies:

- Captain Kyle Kennedy, Government and Media Relations (kyle.kennedy@osp.oregon.gov)
- OSP Public Information Officer (osppio@osp.oregon.gov)

that contain any of these terms:

- “threat assessment”
- “situational awareness”
- “welfare check”
- “knock and talk”
- “grievance”

Date range: January 1, 2023, to the date of search. This request excludes any record concerning me.

Custody. Records sent from or received by Special Districts Association of Oregon accounts are records of the Special Districts Association of Oregon, wherever they are stored, including systems maintained by DAS Enterprise Information Services, including the records of any search that office conducts. If you believe another public body is the custodian of any responsive record, please identify that custodian and the basis for the determination in writing, rather than closing the request (ORS 192.311).

The search. This request also includes the records of the search conducted to answer it: each search as saved by the system that ran it (for example, a Microsoft Purview Content Search or eDiscovery search), with its query, terms, date range, accounts and locations searched, and result counts, and any export or search report it produced. Those records exist once the search is run, and they are public records of the Special Districts Association of Oregon like any other. A response is complete only when it provides all requested records in your possession (ORS 192.329(2)(a)). That includes these. If there are no responsive records, the search records show it.

Format and correspondence. Under ORS 192.324(3), please provide records in the form requested, native electronic format with metadata intact: emails as .eml or .msg with headers and attachments, Teams and text messages as exported by the system that holds them, voicemail as the audio file, and search records as saved or exported by the system that ran them, by email or secure link. Please conduct all correspondence about this request by email, including acknowledgments, estimates, waiver decisions, and payment instructions. Under ORS 192.324(1), this letter is a complete written request, and it includes a complete fee waiver request. It does not need to be resubmitted on a form.

Redaction. Please redact the names, home addresses, personal phone numbers, and personal email addresses of private individuals. No other redaction is requested for privacy. In any fee estimate, please list redaction time separately from search and production time, with the hours and the hourly rate of the employee performing it. Under ORS 192.324(4)(b), a fee may not include attorney time spent determining the application of the public records law.

Exemptions. For any record or portion withheld, please identify the record (date, sender, recipients, and general subject), the specific exemption claimed, and how it applies to that record (ORS 192.329, 192.338). Please segregate and release nonexempt portions. A fee estimate is not an exemption assertion.

- Criminal investigatory information (ORS 192.345(3)): This exemption is conditional, applies only to information compiled for criminal law purposes, and yields where the public interest requires disclosure. A state agency's correspondence with OSP about a member of the public is not, in that agency's hands, information compiled for criminal law purposes. If you claim it, please state which criminal investigation each record was compiled for, and why the public interest does not require disclosure.
- Attorney-client privilege: A communication between the Special Districts Association of Oregon and OSP is not privileged because a DOJ attorney is copied. If you claim privilege, please identify the attorney and the legal advice sought for each record.

Fee waiver. I request a waiver of all fees under ORS 192.324(5). Disclosure primarily benefits the general public:

1. Requester's identity. I study how Oregon's public records law is applied, and I publish what I find at openrecordsoregon.org. The site publishes every records request I make to a state agency, every reply, and every record produced, in full, beside the text of the law, so the public can see how each agency applies it.
2. Purpose. To educate the public about the public records law and to make its practice legible: what an agency is asked, how it searches, what it produces, what it withholds and on what ground, and what it charges. The records from this request will be published beside the request and every reply to it, so any reader can see how the law was applied to it. They will also show the public whether and how state agencies refer members of the public to the state police through its Government and Media Relations section.
3. Character of the information. The records show whether state agencies use the Government and Media Relations section of the state police to handle members of the public who contact them. A member of the public who writes to a state agency is speaking and petitioning the government, under Article I, sections 8 and 26 of the Oregon Constitution and the First Amendment. A referral of that person to the police concerns the use of police power against that speech and petition. It also concerns compliance with ORS 181A.250, which bars police from collecting information about a person's political or social views or activities without reasonable suspicion of criminal involvement.
4. Public domain. No public record shows how often state agencies write to the state police public relations office about a member of the public, or how often that office orders detectives to investigate the person they wrote about. On March 3, 2026, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department forwarded a citizen's public archive to the captain of Government and Media Relations. It alleged no crime and no threat. On March 4, the captain ordered detectives to conduct a "threat assessment." The detectives investigated for three weeks. Then three men drove sixty-eight minutes to conduct a “knock and talk” at the citizen’s door, behind a locked gate, at a restricted federal facility, posted against public access, to tell him he was “not in trouble.” Those records were produced under PR27478.

5. Ability to disseminate. As of the date of this letter, openrecordsoregon.org has published every request, reply, and production in its three public questions: 364 filings and 561 documents. They include public records productions from the Oregon State Police, the Department of Administrative Services, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department, and the Office of the Public Records Advocate, each with its original files and email headers, free to read and download. Records from this request will be published the same way. I have no commercial interest in them.

I request a waiver of all fees under ORS 192.324(5). If a full waiver is denied, I request a reduction of fees under the same provision. If the waiver is denied or a reduction is granted in part, please give the reasons in writing for each factor, state the amount or percentage of any reduction and its basis, and provide an itemized estimate before any work begins, showing the tasks, the hours for each, and the hourly rate of the employee performing each.

Timeline. Please acknowledge this request within five business days and give an estimated completion date as required by ORS 192.324 and 192.329.

Preservation. Please preserve all records responsive to this request while it and any petition for review are pending.

Thank you for your public service.

Respectfully,

Robert Samuel White

Public Records Officer,

This email is a public records request under ORS 192.314. The request is attached as a PDF: the records requested, the search, the format, and a request for a fee waiver.

I study how Oregon's public records law is applied. When a records officer answers, I learn how that officer applies it. Then I build from it, and what I build is public.

I look forward to your contributions to the record.

Mr. White,

The hourly rate for the search, and review of the requested materials is $236 per hour. It is anticipated that it will take 4 hours to perform the search and review. This totals $944. If less time is required, you will be refunded, and if additional time is required, I will provide you with the additional costs.

If you would like to move forward with the request, please submit payment to the address below. Once the payment is received and it has cleared, I will move forward with the search. Please make the check payable to SDAO and you can send it to my attention.

Thank you, and please let me know how you would like to proceed.

Hi Robert,

Thank you for your public records request. Please consider this message acknowledgment under ORS 192.324(2) that the State Library received your request.

The State Library has conducted a search and there are no responsive public records. As the search took less than 30 minutes, there is no fee for this request, as per the State Library's Public Records policy.

I hope this is helpful. Please let me know if you have any additional questions.

PUBLIC RECORDS REQUEST — COMMUNICATIONS WITH OSP GOVERNMENT AND MEDIA RELATIONS

TO	Public Records Officer, Department of Energy
FROM	Robert Samuel White
DATE	October 22, 2026
RE	Public records request under ORS 192.314

To the Public Records Officer, Department of Energy:

Under ORS 192.314, I request the following public records of the Department of Energy. This request excludes any record concerning me. It concerns only how the Department of Energy communicates with the Oregon State Police about other members of the public.

Records requested. All emails, including attachments and replies, sent to or received from either of these Oregon State Police addresses:

- Captain Kyle Kennedy, Government and Media Relations (kyle.kennedy@osp.oregon.gov)
- OSP Public Information Officer (osppio@osp.oregon.gov)

that contain any of these terms:

- “threat assessment”
- “situational awareness”
- “welfare check”
- “knock and talk”
- “grievance”

Date range: January 1, 2023, to the date of search.

Custody. Records sent from or received by Department of Energy accounts are records of the Department of Energy, wherever they are stored, including systems maintained by DAS Enterprise Information Services. If you believe another public body is the custodian of any responsive record, please identify that custodian and the basis for the determination in writing, rather than closing the request (ORS 192.311).

The search. Please state in writing:

- the accounts, systems, and archives searched;
- the exact terms and date range used;
- the date of the search and the title of the person who conducted it;
- the number of responsive records found.

The statute does not require it, but courtesy does. If there are no responsive records, please say so in writing, with the search described above.

Format and correspondence. Under ORS 192.324(3), please provide records in the form requested: native electronic format with metadata, headers, and attachments intact (.eml or .msg), by email or secure link. Please conduct all correspondence about this request by email, including acknowledgments, estimates, waiver decisions, and payment instructions. Under ORS 192.324(1), this letter is a complete written request, and it includes a complete fee waiver request. It does not need to be resubmitted on a form.

Redaction. Please redact the names, home addresses, personal phone numbers, and personal email addresses of private individuals. No other redaction is requested for privacy. In any fee estimate, please list redaction time separately from search and production time, with the hours and the hourly rate of the employee performing it. Under ORS 192.324(4)(b), a fee may not include attorney time spent determining the application of the public records law.

Exemptions. For any record or portion withheld, please identify the record (date, sender, recipients, and general subject), the specific exemption claimed, and how it applies to that record (ORS 192.329, 192.338). Please segregate and release nonexempt portions. A fee estimate is not an exemption assertion.

- Criminal investigatory information (ORS 192.345(3)): This exemption is conditional, applies only to information compiled for criminal law purposes, and yields where the public interest requires disclosure. A state agency's correspondence with OSP about a member of the public is not, in that agency's hands, information compiled for criminal law purposes. If you claim it, please state which criminal investigation each record was compiled for, and why the public interest does not require disclosure.
- Attorney-client privilege: A communication between the Department of Energy and OSP is not privileged because a DOJ attorney is copied. If you claim privilege, please identify the attorney and the legal advice sought for each record.

Fee waiver. I request a waiver of all fees under ORS 192.324(5). Disclosure primarily benefits the general public:

1. Requester's identity. I maintain oprdvolunteerabuse.org, a public archive of Oregon state government records. It has published complete public records productions from the Oregon State Police, Department of Administrative Services, and Oregon Parks and Recreation Department. This request excludes any record concerning me.
2. Purpose. To publish, in full and without charge, records showing whether and how state agencies refer members of the public to the State Police through its Government and Media Relations section.
3. Character of the information. The records show whether state agencies use the Government and Media Relations section of the State Police to handle members of the public who contact them. This concerns the use of police power, civil liberties protected by Article I, section 8 of the Oregon Constitution and the First Amendment, and compliance with ORS 181A.250, which bars police from collecting information about a person's political or social views or activities without reasonable suspicion of criminal involvement.
4. Public domain. No public record shows how often state agencies make such referrals. The only documented instance is in Oregon State Police records produced under PR27478. They show that on March 3, 2026, a state agency forwarded a member of the public to the captain of Government and Media Relations "for situational awareness," without alleging a crime, and that a threat assessment was ordered the next day. Those records are published at https://oprdvolunteerabuse.org/record/osp/01M1M4WF78XJPEJJ48D1JZ4SJ8/.
5. Ability to disseminate. The archive has published every production it has received, with original files and metadata, at no charge. Records from this request will be published the same way. I have no commercial interest in them.

I request a waiver of all fees under ORS 192.324(5). If a full waiver is denied, I request a reduction of fees under the same provision. If the waiver is denied or a reduction is granted in part, please give the reasons in writing for each factor, state the amount or percentage of any reduction and its basis, and provide an itemized estimate before any work begins, showing the tasks, the hours for each, and the hourly rate of the employee performing each.

Timeline. Please acknowledge this request within five business days and give an estimated completion date as required by ORS 192.324 and 192.329.

Preservation. Please preserve all records responsive to this request while it and any petition for review are pending.

a. Fee Schedules

Public bodies must make available to the public the amounts of and the manner of calculating fees for responding to public records requests.[111] This typically includes such information as the hourly charge for different categories of staff work, and the charge to copy records. We recommend that public bodies establish their fee schedules with notice and opportunity for public comment so that the public is aware of the justification for the fees. State agencies should adopt their fee schedules in compliance with the state Administrative Procedures Act.[112]

Public bodies must be prepared to demonstrate that their fee schedules are based upon their actual costs in making public records available for inspection or copying.[113] While there is no provision in the Public Records Law that authorizes a person to petition the Attorney General to review the reasonableness of an agency's fees, state courts do possess this authority.[114] And the Attorney General's authority to enforce the inspection provisions of the Public Records Law may require evaluation of an agency's fees where the amount of the fee in comparison to the nature of the request suggests that the true purpose of the fee is to constructively deny the request, rather than to recoup the agency's actual costs.[115] This evaluation typically requires the public body to explain how it calculated its fee.[116]

b. Waiving or Reducing Fees

A public body may waive or reduce its fee for a particular request if doing so "is in the public interest because making the record available primarily benefits the general public."[117] If disclosure is in the public interest, the public body's decision to deny a request for a fee waiver or reduction must be reasonable under the totality of the circumstances.[118] A requester can contest a public body's decision not to waive or reduce fees by submitting a petition to the Attorney General (for state agencies) or the local district attorney (for local public bodies), or by filing

- Cited in writing to any federal or state law that prohibits the public body from acknowledging whether the requested records exist (or to a law that would impose a loss of federal benefits or other sanction), unless providing that citation would violate the federal or state law.
- If the public body has redacted any information or withheld any information from disclosure, included a statement that the requester may seek review of this withholding pursuant to ORS 192.401, 192.411, 192.415, 192.418, 192.422, 192.427, and 192.431.[73]

The 15 business-day deadline is suspended when the public body provides the requester with a fee estimate to fulfill the request (until the fee has been paid or waived)[74] or when the public body, in good faith, requests clarification from the requester (until the requester provides that clarification or declines to).[75] These provisions are intended to facilitate efficient business, not to justify delay. As a result, public bodies should promptly consider requests for fee waiver. And requesters who wish to keep their request on track will respond to inquiries from the public body as quickly as possible. If no response is received to the fee estimate or clarifying question within 60 days, the public body can close the request.[76]

b. Exceptions to the Deadlines

In rare circumstances, a public body may be excused from the 5 business-day and 15 business-day deadlines. Compliance is excused only if impracticable for one or more of the following reasons:

- The staff or volunteers necessary to complete a response are unavailable (which includes when staff or volunteers are on leave or are not scheduled to work).
- Compliance would demonstrably impede the public body's ability to perform other necessary services.

73 Broadly speaking, these statutes permit a requester to appeal a denial by a state agency to the Attorney General, appeal a denial by any other public body to the district attorney in the appropriate county, and appeal a denial by an elected official by filing a lawsuit in the appropriate circuit court. They also permit a requester whose appeal is denied by the Attorney General or district attorney to file suit against the public body in circuit court.

74 ORS 192.329(3)(a).

75 ORS 192.329(4)(a). The deadline is suspended only if the public body requested clarification in order to expedite its response to the request. Id.

76 ORS 192.329(3)(b), (4)(b). The practical significance of this 60-day waiting period is likely that a public body should retain any work product done in fulfilling the request until the request is closed. For example, if the public body needs to run an email search to gather responsive records so that a fee estimate can be provided, it should retain the results of that search until the request is closed.

established a sufficient public interest, relevant factors include the requester's identity, the purpose for which the requester intends to use the information, the character of the information, whether the requested information is already in the public domain, and whether the requester can demonstrate the ability to disseminate the information to the public. The requester's inability to pay is also a factor, but is not, on its own, a sufficient basis for a fee waiver. Without such information, it may be difficult or even impossible to assess whether the requested disclosure is in the public interest.

(2) Decision on Fee Waiver or Reduction

Even if waiving or reducing the fee is in the public interest, a public body has the discretion whether to do so.[128] However, the public body's decision, on a case-by-case basis, must be reasonable under the totality of the circumstances.[129]

A public body's fee-waiver decision should consider (1) the character of the public interest in the particular disclosure, (2) the extent to which the fee impedes that public interest, and (3) the extent to which a waiver would burden the public body.[130] Of course, other considerations may be appropriate in any given case.

Facts typically relevant to a fee-waiver decision include how narrowly tailored the request is to a matter of public interest; the time and expense needed to fulfill the request; the volume of the records requested; the need to segregate exempt from nonexempt materials; whether the fee was avoidable; and the ability of the requester to pay the fee. A public body may consider the aggregate effect of numerous public records requests from the same requester in assessing its burden.[131]

In reviewing petitions for fee waiver, we have determined that:

- A 50% fee reduction was reasonable for a major news outlet with the resources to pay where the request sought records from over 200 files, rather than from a specific type of file tied to the public interest;[132]
- A 20% fee reduction for a media requester was reasonable where 56 hours of staff time was needed to fulfill a broad request not tailored to specific files;[133]

- No fee reduction was reasonable where the responsive records totaled 14,266 pages;[134]
- No fee reduction for a media requester was reasonable where disclosure would not inform the public about the operation of a state or local governmental body and where the requester had already paid the fee (which indicated that the fee did not deter access);[135] and
- A public body had to waive its fee for retrieving records from a private storage facility where the state-run storage facility offered no-cost retrieval.[136]

When assessing a request for a fee waiver of 100%, public bodies should also determine whether a more modest fee reduction is appropriate. There may be circumstances in which denying a total fee waiver is reasonable, but where refusing a 25% or 50% reduction is unreasonable.

8. Consulting with Legal Counsel

Public bodies often must consult with legal counsel regarding public record requests. Briefly postponing the disclosure of records for that purpose does not violate the Public Records Law. It is reasonable for a public body to obtain legal advice on an extensive public records request when compliance will seriously disrupt the public body's operations. Similarly, it is reasonable for a public body to consult counsel about disclosure of documents that appear to be exempt, in whole or in part, from disclosure. When a public body receives a request for records that the public body believes may be pertinent to a legal claim or litigation against the public body, it is also reasonable to consult counsel.

We advise state agencies to consult with counsel when presented with physically extensive or legally complex requests for disclosure of public records. We have concluded that "when a public body does so, it does not thereby actually or constructively deny the request."[137] However, it is unreasonable to use consultation with counsel merely as a tactic to delay or frustrate the inspection process. In addition, consulting with counsel does not relieve the public body of its obligation to comply with the five business-day and 15 business-day deadlines. If the need for legal advice would push the public body's final response past the 15 business-day deadline, the public body will need to provide the requester in writing with a reasonable estimated date of completion.

Hi Jake, Jamen Lee with OPRD shared the information about Mr. White's activities with the fusion center.

I'm documenting this activity for our internal awareness since Mr. White's actions border on harassment due to the volume of emails that he has forwarded to OPRD staff over the last year.

However, I wanted to check with you to confirm that FBI/OSP is handling this and that OTFC does not need to conduct additional research on Mr. White.

Thanks!

Website author was dismissed from volunteering with OPRD on 3/25/25 and flagged as ineligible for future service.

Has continued to email the OPRD staff (listed on his website) and recently escalated to including a countdown to the one-year anniversary of his dismissal in his emails to OPRD's Deputy Director JR Collier.

We can discuss more details if need be after our check-in with involved staff today.

- WHITE volunteer schedule is Wednesday-Sunday, four hours a day. Normally he splits morning and late afternoon.
- His supervisor thinks he has a part time job at a marina in Reedsport.
- His duties include making rounds in an FS vehicle picking up trash, cleaning campgrounds and bathrooms.
- WHITE currently lives at the Siltcoos WC in his newer RV, I believe Class B, and has a newer model red Jeep Rubicon with KY plates.
- Christina Ojeda is an FS Employee and WHITE's current supervisor. Christina # 541-999-1838. She was told not to advise WHITE that FS LE was inquiring about his whereabouts.
- Attached are two screenshots of the Siltcoos Workcenter location, about 10 minutes south of Florence. It's the first left after you turn off HWY 101 that has do not enter and FS Only signs. The gate is sometimes closed and secured with a Yale Lock.

If for some reason I'm not able to accompany you, you can either just walk the 50 feet past the gate or call Christina for access.
I would have gotten you some current pictures but my schedule last week was tight. Shoot me a text or call Monday to confirm for Tuesday.

Narrative:
Oregon State Police (OSP) Major Crimes Section (MCS) received a request to perform a threat assessment on an individual who was terminated from the Oregon State Parks Department. The induvial took issue with the termination and had been contacting the parks department frequently. Additionally, the individual was found to be posting some concerning things online. The parks department was concerned for potential further escalation from the individual.

OSP MCS Sergeant Sean Henderson assigned the case to me for further investigation. Sergeant Henderson also provided me with the original email received from the Oregon State Parks Department. I reviewed the email and learned that the induvial was identified as Rober Samuel White (White) with a date of birth of 04-11-1977. What follows is the communication received from Oregon State Parks Department Emergency Manager Jamen Lee:

Email from Jamen Lee:

Fyi - sharing for situational awareness since he is now including the Governor as well as our Director.

https://oprdvolunteerabuse.org/key-individuals/

Website author was dismissed from volunteering with OPRD on 3/25/25 and flagged as ineligible for future service.

We can discuss more details if need be after our check-in with involved staff today.

Jamen Lee

I reviewed the provided website created by White. White appeared to be disgruntled about being terminated from the Oregon Parks Department as a volunteer at Honeyman State Park. White had a timeline of events per his information. White also posted many videos of his conversations with the parks department employees regarding his termination.

White appeared to be upset and has continued updating the website and his perceived grievances for a year and as of 4-15-26 appears to continue to post and update the website. White does not appear to make any direct threats or does not have any apparent or obvious leakage towards violence or violent behavior.

While reviewing his original posts on his website to most recent ones there has been a clear and obvious change in attitude and demeanor. In an effort to interrupt, deescalate, and attempt to listen and understand White's grievance OSP Detective Jake Hyde and I responded to White's currently location. We learned that White was currently volunteering for the National Forest Service and was staying in his RV at a National Forest Service maintenance site off of Siltcoos Beach Access Road in Florence.

On March 14, 2026, at about 9:50am Detective Hyde and I met with National Forest Service Special Agent Matthew Oliver and attempted to contact White at his motorhome. White answered the door, and I identified myself and advised him I had my body worn camera activated. I asked White if I could speak with him and he responded and said "I'm listening" I attempted to tell White the reason for the contact and that we were just there to have a conversation with him. White immediately stated that he did not want to talk with us without an attorney. I again told White he was not in trouble, and he again responded that he did not want to talk with us without an attorney and shut the door. We then left the location. For exact details and statements please see attached BWC.

After leaving White's motorhome Special Agent Oliver attempted phone contact with White to again explain the reason for the contact. White did not want to listen to what Special Agent Oliver had to say and ultimately became frustrated and hung up on Special Agent Oliver.

Later Special Agent Oliver provided me with an emailed summary of his actions in regards to White. He also provided me with text messages that he had received from White. I added the documents received from Special Agent Oliver with this case file please see attached documents.

Ultimately White does not appear to be escalating on the pathway to violence. While concerning White's behavior, it does not appear to be an immediate threat additionally there is no evidence White has committed any crimes.

Case and assessment to be documented for information only at this time. Closed 4 -15-26.

SUBJECT	Re: [External Email]Fw: Petition for Public Records Order — Robert Samuel White / Oregon State Police (PR27478; CAD SP26097765)

Mr. White-

I am glad that you were able to get the documents you request from the Oregon State Patrol. Regarding the CAD entry stating, “FOR THE FOREST SERVICE,” I am unsure why that wording appears, as the Forest Service did not initiate the interview. The agency’s involvement was limited to assisting OSP by providing access and guiding them to the Siltcoos Work Center. This is standard practice, as OSP does not have keys to Forest Service gates, work centers, or other secured facilities. Our law enforcement officer accompanied them solely to facilitate entry and ensure they reached the correct location.
I hope this clarifies any confusion about the Forest Service’s role.
Employees in the Reedsport Office have shared positive feedback regarding your work as a volunteer, and I am pleased to hear that. I trust your experience with District staff has been positive, and I look forward to continuing a strong and productive working relationship.

Subject	RE: Petition for a Public Records Order: Special Districts Association of Oregon

To the District Attorney:

My petition of November 4, 2026, for a Public Records Order on the Special Districts Association of Oregon misstates what the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department sent the state police. I correct it here.

My petition states that OPRD Emergency Manager Jamen Lee "sent my letters" to Oregon State Police on March 3, 2026.[1] He did not. At 3:41 PM that day, he sent Captain Kyle Kennedy, the public relations captain for Oregon State Police, a link to one page of my public archive, "https://openrecordsoregon.org/r/KE7RR6N1/G5CK copying Deputy Director Collier.[2]

What Lee did not tell the police: on February 13, 2026, the Deputy Director had written to me that OPRD "recognizes that you may be filing a legal action," and: "When and if you decide to file any legal action, your correspondence will be forwarded to our Department of Justice counsel."[3] At 8:52 AM on March 3, I answered him: "I haven't sued you yet because I intend to do it once, and do it right." I wrote: "You've had 342 days to do the right thing." And: "I offer you a chance to choose differently." I closed: "You will not bury this."[4] At 3:41 PM, with the Deputy Director copied, his Emergency Manager sent the police a link to my archive. Telling a public body that I will take my claims to court is petitioning the government, protected by Article I, section 26 of the Oregon Constitution and the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Lee's email makes two claims about me. Both are false.

He wrote: "Fyi - sharing for situational awareness since he is now including the Governor as well as our Director."[2] My letters had included the Director since July 29, 2025,[5] and the Governor since November 18, 2025.[6]

He wrote that I had "recently escalated to including a countdown to the one-year anniversary of his dismissal in his emails to OPRD's Deputy Director JR Collier."[2] There is no countdown. My emails to the Deputy Director count up, by the days of an ongoing constitutional violation: "Day 339" on February 28, 2026,[7] and "Day 342" on the morning of March 3, 2026, hours before his email.[8] Each one told the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department it was violating my constitutional rights that day, and could stop that day. Today is Day 588.

I correct this so that my petition rests on the record as it is. The corrected fact is why these records matter to the public.

A public body that sends the police after a citizen for what he said to it is retaliating against protected speech, and using the police to do it. No law was broken. No crime was suspected. No charge was filed. No court was asked. And a court was the only appropriate venue for a public body acting in good faith.

Nothing in this has a place in a free society.

Speech is how people hold their government to account: they write to it, publish about it, criticize it, and take it to court. When a government sends its police after a citizen for doing that, it is political persecution. When another country does it, no one hesitates to call it that. It is no different in Oregon. Every other right depends on the right to speak, because a person whose rights are violated must be able to say so. If a public body can send armed police to the home of anyone who says so, no right is safe, and the government answers to no one.

Calling this a personal interest has it backward. I already know what was done to me. The public does not know how often it is done to everyone else. Every person who writes to their government, publishes about it, criticizes it, or takes it to court has the same stake in these records. It is done in secret, and only records can show it. Every official who keeps those records from the public, by fee, by delay, or by order, whether a public body's records officer or the attorney who reviews this petition, joins in the concealment. I will not soften that truth.

The relief my petition requests stands as filed.

Respectfully,

Robert Samuel White

Subject: RE: Petition for a Public Records Order: Special Districts Association of Oregon

To the District Attorney:

My petition of November 4, 2026, for a Public Records Order on the Special Districts Association of Oregon misstates what the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department sent the state police. I correct it here.

My petition states that OPRD Emergency Manager Jamen Lee “sent my letters” to Oregon State Police on March 3, 2026.[1] He did not. At 3:41 PM that day, he sent Captain Kyle Kennedy, the public relations captain for Oregon State Police, a link to one page of my public archive, “https://openrecordsoregon.org/r/KE7RR6N1/G5CK copying Deputy Director Collier.[2]

What Lee did not tell the police: on February 13, 2026, the Deputy Director had written to me that OPRD “recognizes that you may be filing a legal action,” and: “When and if you decide to file any legal action, your correspondence will be forwarded to our Department of Justice counsel.”[3] At 8:52 AM on March 3, I answered him: “I haven't sued you yet because I intend to do it once, and do it right.” I wrote: “You've had 342 days to do the right thing.” And: “I offer you a chance to choose differently.” I closed: “You will not bury this.”[4] At 3:41 PM, with the Deputy Director copied, his Emergency Manager sent the police a link to my archive. Telling a public body that I will take my claims to court is petitioning the government, protected by Article I, section 26 of the Oregon Constitution and the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Lee’s email makes two claims about me. Both are false.

He wrote: “Fyi - sharing for situational awareness since he is now including the Governor as well as our Director.”[2] My letters had included the Director since July 29, 2025,[5] and the Governor since November 18, 2025.[6]

He wrote that I had “recently escalated to including a countdown to the one-year anniversary of his dismissal in his emails to OPRD's Deputy Director JR Collier.”[2] There is no countdown. My emails to the Deputy Director count up, by the days of an ongoing constitutional violation: “Day 339” on February 28, 2026,[7] and “Day 342” on the morning of March 3, 2026, hours before his email.[8] Each one told the Oregon

Parks and Recreation Department it was violating my constitutional rights that day, and could stop that day. Today is Day 588.

I correct this so that my petition rests on the record as it is. The corrected fact is why these records matter to the public.

A public body that sends the police after a citizen for what he said to it is retaliating against protected speech, and using the police to do it. No law was broken. No crime was suspected. No charge was filed. No court was asked. And a court was the only appropriate venue for a public body acting in good faith.

Every official who keeps those records from the public, by fee, by delay, or by order, whether a public body's records officer or the attorney who reviews this petition, joins in the concealment. I will not soften that truth.

The relief my petition requests stands as filed.

FEE WAIVER REQUEST

TO	Public Records Officer, Special Districts Association of Oregon
FROM	Robert Samuel White, P.O. Box 334, Reedsport, Oregon 97467
DATE	November 6, 2026
RE	Fee waiver request under ORS 192.324(5), answered on the State's Public Interest Threshold Evaluation Form

Public Records Officer,

I request a waiver of all fees on my public records request of October 31, 2026, under ORS 192.324(5).[1]

The State has a form for this decision: Exhibit C to Statewide Policy 107-001-030, the Public Interest Threshold Evaluation Form.[2] It says: "Agencies are statutorily required to consider and grant reasonable requests to waive or reduce fees associated with fulfilling a public records request when doing so is in the public interest because providing access primarily benefits the general public."[3] It says each request is decided on "the information provided by the requester" and "the totality of the circumstances at the time of the request," and that "Previous requests and evaluations will not be considered as part of the evaluation."[3] The policy binds the agencies of the Executive Department it names.[2] If it does not bind you, these are the State's own questions, and the statute is the same.

This letter is the information provided by the requester. It answers the form's eight questions, in the form's order, in the form's words.

PUBLIC INTEREST

1. "Would disclosure of the requested information, directly impact, affect, or serve an identified interest of the general public?"[4]

Yes. The identified interest is whether a member of the public can write to a state agency without being sent to the police. The records show whether state agencies use the Government and Media Relations section of the state police to handle members of the public who contact them. A member of the public who writes to a state agency is speaking and petitioning the government, under Article I, sections 8 and 26 of the Oregon Constitution and the First Amendment to the United States Constitution. A referral of that person to the police concerns the use of police power against that speech and petition. It also concerns compliance with ORS 181A.250, which bars police from collecting information about a person's political or social views or activities without reasonable suspicion of criminal involvement. No public record shows how often state agencies write to that office about a member of the public.

The interest does not end at the referral. A person sent to the police has one way to learn what was written: to write to the State again, this time for the records. What that person meets is on the record: a form is required, a fee instead of the records, the search is not run, the email is called someone else's. The public has an identified interest in both letters: the one that brought the police, and the one that asks for the record of it. Disclosure directly serves everyone who writes to a state agency.

2. "Would the requested information, advance the welfare or well-being of the general public?"[4]

Yes. On March 3, 2026, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department forwarded a citizen's public archive to the captain of Government and Media Relations. It alleged no crime and no threat. On March 4, the captain ordered detectives to conduct a "threat assessment." The detectives investigated for three weeks and documented the citizen in multiple state and federal systems. Then three men drove sixty-eight minutes to conduct a "knock and talk" at the citizen's door, behind a locked gate, at a restricted federal facility, posted against public access, to tell him he was "not in trouble."[5]

He then wrote to the State for the records. On April 2, 2026, the Oregon State Police sent him to its form.[6] On April 3, it answered that a search had identified no records.[7] On April 14, it answered his fee waiver request with a form to print and mail.[8] On July 27, five days after his petition, it wrote that it had located additional records.[9] On August 11, it estimated $16,315.00, at 650 hours and release 130 weeks after payment.[10] On September 22, the Office of the Governor denied his fee waiver and estimated $572.50.[11] On October 15, the Department of Justice denied his fee waiver and estimated $599, writing that "the records you seek pertain primarily to you and your private interests."[12]

Not one word of this relies on my words. It is in the State's own records. The welfare and the well-being of the general public are advanced when the public knows what can follow a letter to its government, and what can follow the next one.

3. "Will the requester be able to actually, meaningfully disseminate the requested information?"[4]

Yes. I am already doing it. As of the date of this letter, openrecordsoregon.org has published every request, reply, and production in its four inquiries: 671 filings and 686 documents. They include public records productions from the Oregon State Police, the Department of Administrative Services, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department, the Office of the Public Records Advocate, the Department of Energy, the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Oregon Housing and Community Services, and the Water Resources Department, each with its files and email headers, free to read and download. Records from this request will be published the same way.

Those records are used to answer one question in public: what happens when a member of the public writes to a state agency, and what happens when that person writes again for the records. Each production stands on its body's line beside the request and every reply, so any reader can hold one agency's answer against another's. The Department of Fish and Wildlife produced six Oregon State Police weekly reports addressed to Captain Kyle Kennedy. Oregon Housing and Community Services produced seventeen Teams messages, with the reports of its search. My petition to the Attorney General set that production beside the Department of Emergency Management's invoice of $1,747.12 for the same search. The next day, that department wrote that "the initial labor estimate was a mistake and should never have been generated," and that "we have changed the way we create labor reimbursement estimates going forward."

PRIVATE OR COMMERCIAL INTEREST

4. "Is the public benefit greater than the individual benefit derived from disclosure?"[4]

Yes. What happened to me is already published.[5] My request excludes any record concerning me.[1] It asks for records about other members of the public, with their names redacted. Every record I receive is published, free, for anyone to read. I receive nothing from disclosure that the public does not receive.

5. "Is there a specifically identified purpose for which the public records are being sought that is wholly unrelated to 1) commercial purposes; or 2) actual or possible use in connection with administrative, judicial or legal proceedings?"[4]

Yes. The question joins two things with "or," so I answer each.

The first is commercial purposes. I have none. The purpose I have identified is to publish these records, free, to show the public what happens when a member of the public writes to a state agency: whether and how state agencies refer that person to the state police, and what that person meets on asking for the record of it.

The second is "actual or possible use in connection with administrative, judicial or legal proceedings." Publication is not a proceeding. My request excludes any record concerning me.[1] Once a record is public, anyone can use it for anything. That is true of every public record any agency releases. The right belongs to every person [ORS 192.314(1)], and the waiver turns on one thing: whether "making the record available primarily benefits the general public" [ORS 192.324(5)].

REASONABLENESS

6. "Is the request targeted at a specifically identified matter (meaning, not overly-broad or -complex)?"[4]

Yes. The matter is what a state agency does with a member of the public who writes to it: whether it writes about that person to the Government and Media Relations section of the state police, and what that person meets on asking for the record of it.

The request is not overly broad. It is limited to the two accounts of that section, five terms, and one date range, and it excludes any record concerning me.[1] It asks for nothing else an agency holds. "Threat assessment" and "knock and talk" are two of the terms, and they are the words in question 2. It is not complex. An agency wrote to those accounts in those terms or it did not, and the search shows which.

What it finds is what it asks about. The Department of Fish and Wildlife sent six Oregon State Police weekly reports addressed to Captain Kyle Kennedy.[13] The Oregon Department of Energy sent four emails, among them "Just here for situational awareness," from the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department.[14] The Water Resources Department sent three Teams messages "captured from weekly meetings between numerous state agencies (which included one of the referenced email addresses)."[15] Oregon Housing and Community Services sent seventeen Teams messages from those meetings: "Gov Comms Office Hours" and "Weekly Agency Comms Call."[16] None of them required a fee.

7. "Can the agency grant a waiver or reduce fees without causing an unreasonable burden on agency resources?"[4]

Yes. What this request requires of you is production: the search, the review, any redaction, and the records. The statute assigns that work to the public body. "Every person has a right to inspect any public record of a public body in this state" [ORS 192.314(1)]. A public body "shall complete its response" to a written request "as soon as practicable and without unreasonable delay" [ORS 192.329(1)]. On review, "the burden is on the public body to sustain its action" [ORS 192.431(1)].

A waiver adds no hour to that work. It decides who pays for it, and the statute lets the custodian furnish copies "without charge" when "making the record available primarily benefits the general public" [ORS 192.324(5)]. A duty the statute already assigns to you does not become an unreasonable burden because a waiver is granted.

The form's guidance allows a denial "if the interest of the general public would be better served by preserving agency resources."[3] Agency resources are the public's. On this matter the State spent them: three weeks of detectives and three men on a sixty-eight-minute drive to one door, on a forwarded public archive that alleged no crime and no threat.[5] The general public is not better served by preserving the time it takes to show what that was, and how often it happens.

If you mark this question no, state the hours you measured, the rate, and the records they cover.

8. "Is the public interest served by disclosure greater than the burden to the agency (amount of staff time diverted to fulfilling a request and costs of subsidization)?"[4]

Yes. The form names two costs. The first is staff time. Responding to a public records request is a duty of the office, so the time spent producing records is not diverted from the agency's work. It is that work. The second is subsidization. The public already pays for the staff who wrote these messages, the systems that hold them, and the detectives in question 2. A waiver asks it to pay nothing new, and the cost is paid once: I publish what you produce, free, so no other member of the public has to request it and you do not have to produce it again.

On the other side is the interest in question 1: whether a person can write to a state agency without being sent to the police, and whether that person can then see the record of it. That interest is greater.

FOLLOW THE STATUTE

Complete the form and send it to me: each of the eight questions marked, and, for any question marked no, what in this letter or in the circumstances supports that mark. Your decision will be published beside this letter and my request, as part of the record question 1 describes.

If you do not grant a full waiver, reduce the fees under the same provision and apply the State's Reduced Fee-Schedule, which sets "$60/hour for Professional (Information Technology, Human Resources, High-level Analyst)" and "$32/hour for Managerial" as the most a body may charge.[17] State the amount of any reduction and its basis, and provide an itemized estimate before any work begins: the tasks, the hours for each, and the hourly rate of the employee performing each.

Decide my fee waiver request on what it says. Follow the statute [ORS 192.324(5)].

Thank you for your public service.
